William Hs Storyboard

Richard Wine needs a roommate for his dorm at the university of south carolina, but is worried that the housing application does not have enough options for describing yourself and is not helpful for finding multiple possible roommates in the case that he does not like one.

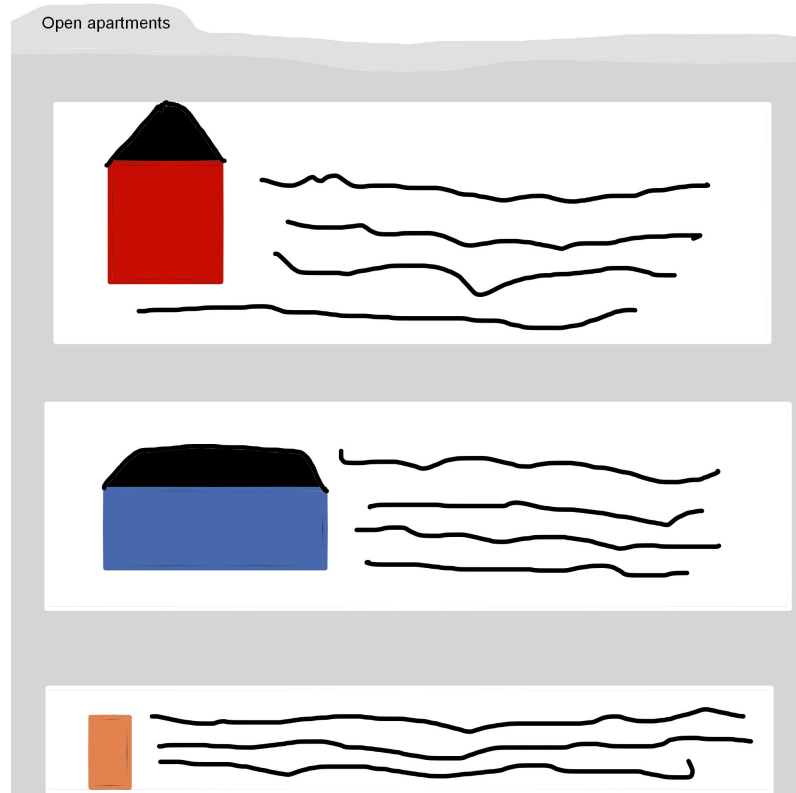

Richard hears about a new app that allows you to find a well-matched roommate as well as pick back-ups in the case that your first roommate does not mesh well with you and makes an account.

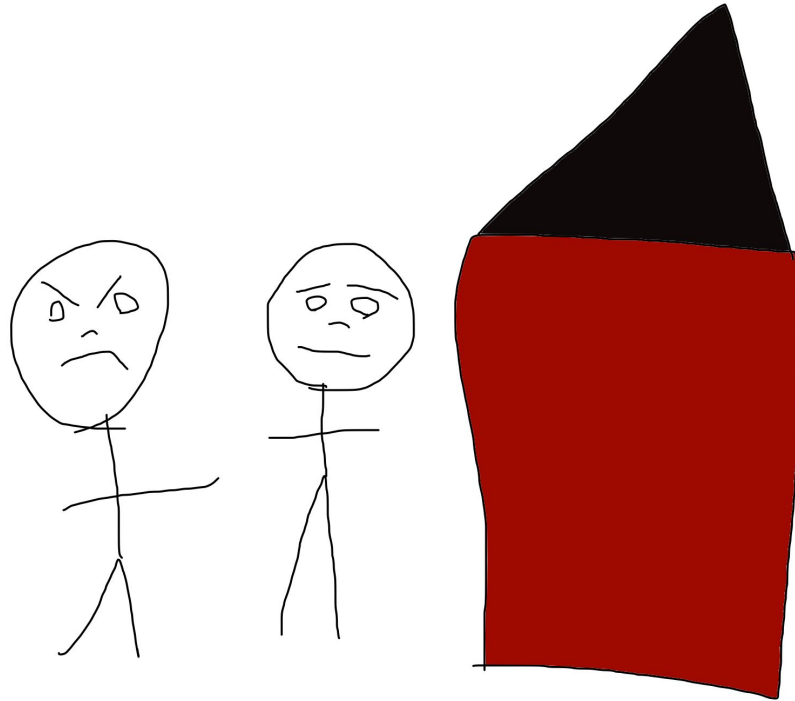

Richard has a much wider assortment of roommates, the ability to include more information about himself, and the ability to choose several roommates as back-ups so that in case his first choice does not go well, he will have options left to him.

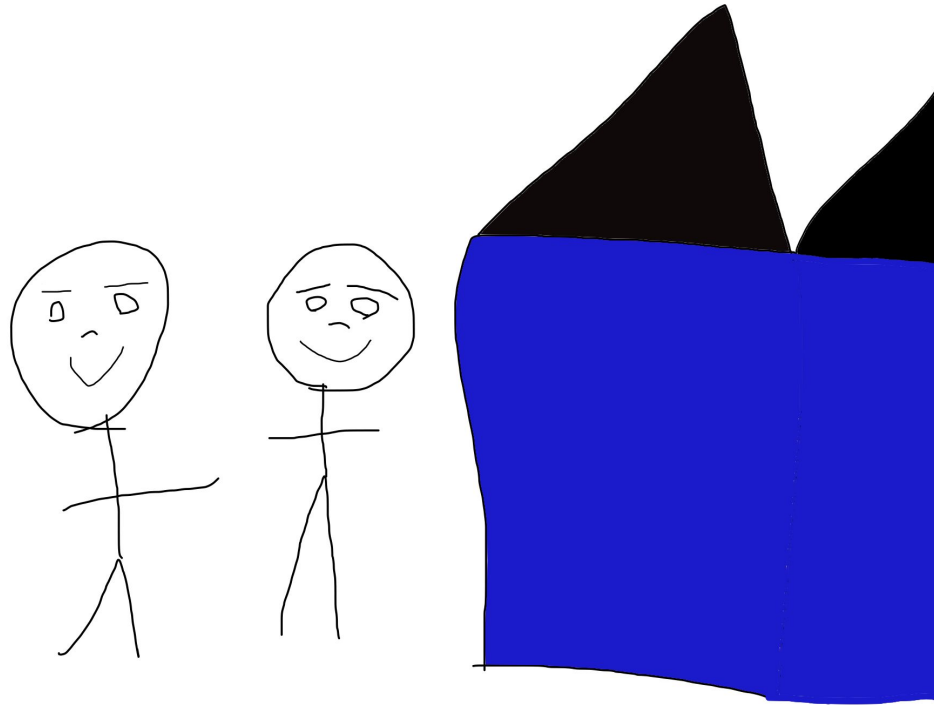

Richard chooses an apartment with his first choice roommate and makes arrangements to live there

Richard interacts with his roommate but decides that they do not mesh well together.

Richard finally finds a roommate that he enjoys living with and is happy with his decisions, knowing he never would've had such control over the situation had he left it in the university's hands

Hollis' Storyboard

Chris has been searching desperately to find a new apartment for his next year in college. It is cheaper to find roommates but all his friends aren't available to room with him

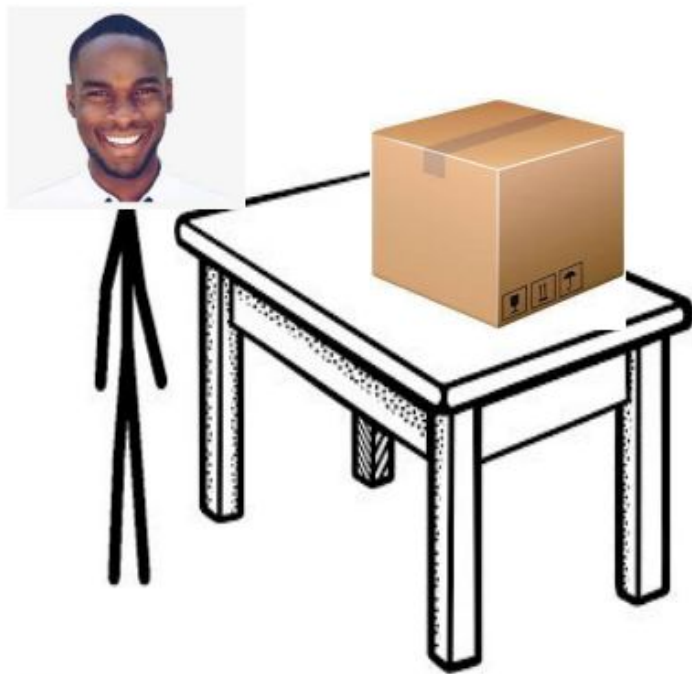

Chris heard from his friend about an app that would let him find potential roommates bases on what he likes.

On the app he is able list what he likes and dislikes. This helps the app find people with similar likes as him.

The app then finds like minded people in his area.

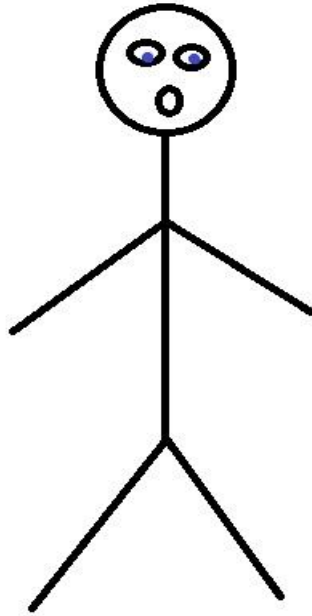

Now chris is ready to move in and meet his new roommates

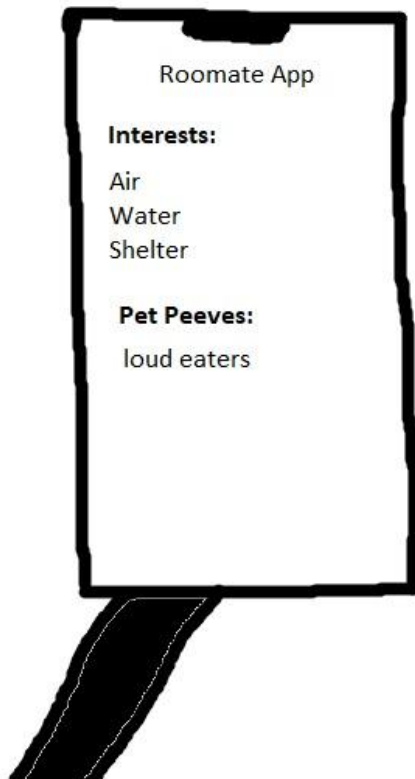

Now chris and his new roommates are ready to move in and go through the next year of college.

John Kraft's Storyboard

Harrison Netile just recently graduated highschool and is going to college very far away with nobody he knows. He wants to find a roommate that he will be able to not only get along with, but also become friends with.

Harrison heard about this app that let's you find roommates with the same interests as you

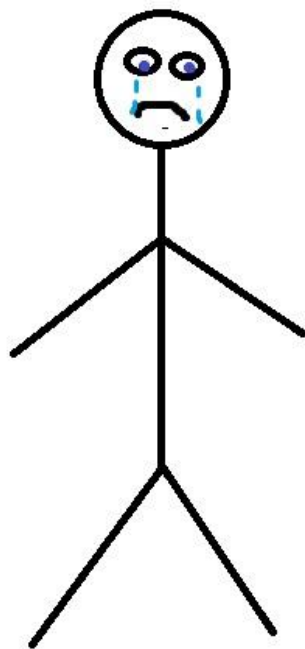

Harrison found someone he matched with perfectly! His name is Garry, and he has all the same interests as Harrison. They are gonna be the best of friends.

Garry was super excited to meet Harrison, but was not sure if he was going to go to that college yet.

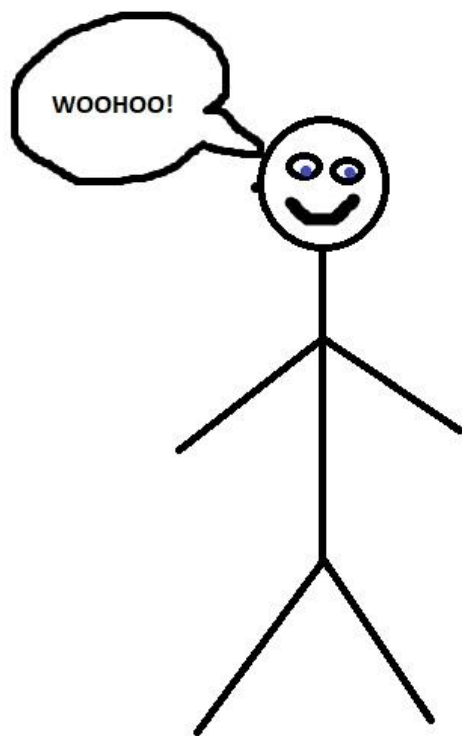

Harrison got very sad when Garry told him they might not room together. The worst part was, he had no other roommates lined up. He wanted Garry as his first choice, but also wanted a plan B.

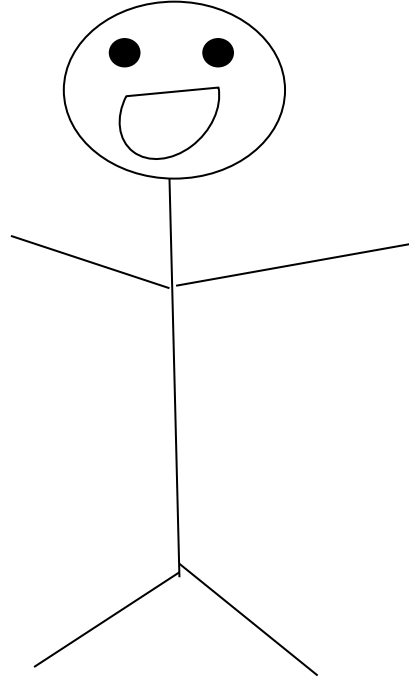

Luckily, the roommate app lets Harrison choose as many mutual backup roommates just in case something falls through with the first one.

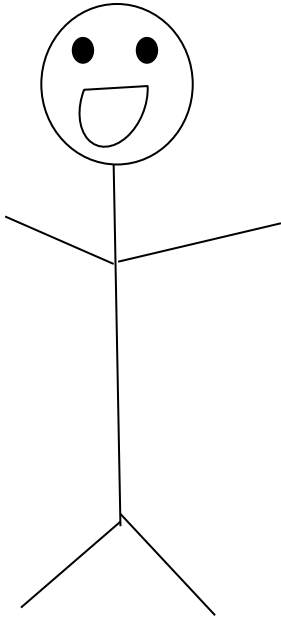

Now Harrison is more excited than ever to go to college knowing no matter what happens he is going to be living with someone he chose personally.

Jackson A's Storyboard

Larry is a first year college student at USC. He doesn't want to put the work into looking for a roommate, so he is deciding to go random. While it is scary, he's sure the person that he get matched with can't be that bad, right?

Larry gets his new roommate, Greg, who seems like a great guy! Greg mentions that he parties a lot but Larry isn't worried about that right now.

Turns out, Greg's party habits often leading to him asleep on Larry's floor multiple times a week. Larry tries to talk to Greg about this, but is told to just deal with it, "its college"
